Re: Estate of Henry S. Jones

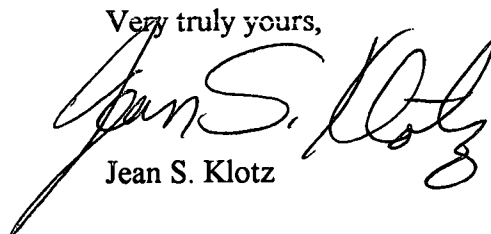

Gentlemen:

Enclosed you will find a Supplemental Statement of Water Diversion and Use for the years 1994 through 1996. Mr. Jones passed away on December 19, 1996, and his neighbor, Cloyde L. Eien, is now executor of his estate. Any further correspondence may be addressed to Mr. Eien at the address shown above.

In filling out the water usage for 1995 and 1996, we elected to duplicate the figures for 1994, as we are unable to locate any other records whatsoever. We assume that Mr. Jones calculated his usage by multiplying the gallon per minute capacity of his pump, by the time that it actually ran. We are offering these figures only to make certain that we have made a definite statement as to usage in the years of 1995 and 1996.

The property is presently being sold in the estate. We will inform the new owner that he has an obligation to notify you of the change of ownership, once escrow has closed.

Very truly yours,

Jean S. Klotz

GENERAL INFORMATION PERTAINING TO WATER RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA

There are two principal types of surface water rights in California. They are riparian and appropriative rights.

A riparian right enables an owner of land bordering a natural lake or stream to take and use water on his riparian land. Riparian land must be in the same watershed as the water source and must never have been severed from the sources of supply by an intervening parcel without reservation of the riparian right to the severed parcel. Generally, a riparian water user must share the water supply with other riparian users. Riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water for later use or to divert water which originates in a different watershed, or return flows from use of groundwater.

An appropriative right is required for use of water on nonriparian land and for storage of water. Generally, appropriative rights may be exercised only when there is a surplus not needed by riparian water users. Since 1914 new appropriators have been required to obtain a permit and license from the State.

Statements of Water Diversion and Use must be filed by riparian and pre-1914 appropriative water users. The filing of a statement (1) provides a record of water use, (2) enables the State to notify such users if someone proposes a new appropriation upstream from their diversion, and (3) assists the State to determine if additional water is available for future appropriators.

The above discussion is provided for general information. For more specific information concerning water rights, please contact an attorney or write to this office. We have several pamphlets available. They include:
